MESSAGE FROM THE PRO

Dear Members,

Happy February! Hope everyone had an eventful January and are staying true to their New Year resolutions. If one of your resolutions is to improve your golf game, these parade articles will be here to help!

Starting this month in my parade articles, I will start including swing tips and drills to help members improve their golf game.

One of the biggest flaws I see in golfers is that when they practice, they are simply “hitting balls for 30 minutes or putting for 30 minutes etc”. To me, that is not specific enough and it falls in a category which I call “mindlessly practicing.” The problem with this is that when golfers “mindlessly practice” they only hit the balls well on the range when there is no pressure. However, the moment they step onto the course and put in an environment where there is pressure, they will fail to execute. Therefore, I created a series for my students called “Practice with a Purpose.” It is a database of drills golfers can select to add into their practice routine to help enhance their game. One thing in common with these drills is that they are designed to give golfers a sense of pressure while practicing their golf game. With that being said, here is the first drill!

Drill for February 2025 – 15 Minutes a Day, Keeps the 3 putts Away

Purpose – To minimize 3 putts

How: Grab one ball, a putter, a stopwatch, and head on to the putting green. Start the timer and start putting. Your job is to putt for 15 minutes straight without a single 3 putt. Please putt every shot like how you would do so on the course. Once the stopwatch hits 15 minutes, the drill is completed. However, In the occasion where you do happen to 3 putt, you will now add 5 minutes onto your practice time. Every 3 putt will result in adding 5 minutes onto your total practice time. (ex. You have now 3 putted two times... now you have to putt for 25 minutes). Here is the good news. If you happen to make a putt outside 15 feet, you now have an “imaginary coupon”. Each imaginary coupon may be used to deduct a single five minute 3 putt penalty. (ex. You 3 putted twice, 1 putted once from outside 15 feet, timer is now at 20 minutes.) However, the timer cannot go below 15 minutes. The drill is complete when the time is up.

Hope you all have fun with this drill!

Best Regards,
